Peter and John healing the lame man (Acts 3:2-8).

By the French Baroque artist Nicolas Poussin (1594-1665).

Miracles are an integral part of the Bible. They prove that the Bible is the word of God. No miracle, no evidence of Deity. While miracles are a major part of the Bible, they are not abundant everywhere in the Bible. Bible miracles, not including prophecies and their fulfillment, are particularly noticeable in four great periods, centuries apart:

The establishment of the Jewish nation: Moses and Joshua: 1400 BC

The struggle with idolatry: Elijah and Elisha: 850 BC

During the captivity, when idolatry was victorious: Daniel: 600 BC

At the introduction of Christianity: Jesus and the Apostles.

On the Day of Pentecost, the Holy Spirit touched the apostles (Acts 2:1-4), giving them the ability to perform miracles (2:43; 5:12).

Each miracle grew the young church (2:41; 5:14; 8:13; 9:35; 9:42; 19:20).
The Apostles even raised the dead (see below).

The Apostles miracles, as recorded in "The Acts of the Apostles."

1. A lame man is healed at the Beautiful Gate (3:2-8).

2. Ananias and his wife Sapphira die for lying (5:5-10).

3. "Multitudes...of men and women" came to Jerusalem to be healed by Peter (5:14-16).

4. The apostle Stephen "did great wonders and miracles" (6:8).

5. Philip healed the lame and drove out demons from the possessed (8:6-7).

6. Ananias restores Saul's/Paul's eyesight (9:17-18).

7. Peter heals the bedridden Aeneas of palsy (9:32-35).

8. Peter raises Dorcas from the dead (9:39-41).

9. Paul blinds Elymas, the sorcerer, for turning people away from the faith (13:7-12).
